

CHICAGO SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

Privacy Statement

The Chicago Sunday Evening Club (the Club) respects the privacy of its donors. We do not share donor information with any third party.

Information Collected

We collect the following donor information:

- Contact information: name, address, phone number, email address;
- Information concerning how the donor heard about the Club;
- Information that the donor wishes to share, such as questions, comments and suggestions;
- Record of the donor's contributions and any requests for materials; and
- Credit card information that is entered to complete a contribution or to pay for materials ordered (but that information is not stored in the Club's database.)

Use of Information

We never sell, rent, trade or share any donor information to or with a third party. We use a donor's contact information only in order to:

- Process contributions, distribute receipts for donations and thank the donor;
- Inform the donor of Club programs, news and events;
- Solicit the donor; and
- Maintain internal records and analyze giving.

We may include a donor's name in a publicly disclosed list of donors unless the donor requests otherwise. A gift given anonymously never has the donor's name publicly associated with the donation.

We do not collect any personal information from visitors to our Website. We use aggregate Website data for internal and marketing purposes but do not collect any personally identifying information.
